Dr. Mastrotta is the Center Director of Omni Eye Surgery in New York City. She is dedicated to playing a key role in the center's development and growth through her commitment to excellence in patient care.

Dr. Mastrotta is a member of the American Optometric Association, the New York State Optometric Association, the Optometric Cataract and IOL Society, the Optometric Dry Eye Society, and is a former board member of the Optometric Society of the City of New York. Her areas of special interest include Pseudoexfoliation Syndrome and Ocular Surface Disease. She has lectured locally and at the annual meeting of American Optometric Association and Vision Expo East and West on these topics.

Dr. Mastrotta graduated from New York University with a Masters of Science and completed her Optometry degree at SUNY College of Optometry in 1989.

"Dr. Mastrotta's dedication and contribution to better understanding the eyelids' role in ocular surface disease has been tremendous. With the goals and synergies that we share, the addition of Dr. Mastrotta to OCuSOFT's Optometric Scientific Advisory Board is a great fit," said Patrick H. Witham, Executive Vice-President.
